BY JAKC

First time i went to Fluff
three years ago.

i heared a lot about it before, but had a sceptic attitude (like for everything i don't know).

Now i am trying to ~~visit~~ plan my # summer holidays around the end of July - i want to visit Fluff ~~always~~ every year.

this is only one place where i can meet all of my friends - not only europeans, russians (i am from russia also). Sometimes i think feel that ~~the~~ meet them on fluff
is easier than in country
we live.

fluff fest ~~stays~~ means a lot for all ~~other~~ russians girls and guys who are really into hardcore, punk and ~~the~~ traveling

It became a good tradition - have a big company of 20 or 30 people and enjoy these days together. Everyone starts preparing long time before: getting visa, saving money, choosing the way of travel: hitchiking, using car or going by train or airplane. But all of us meets at the same point: Prague Central Station.

Every year I ~~wonder~~ feel impressed by perfect organisation of festival - after too many years it still supports DIY, and do it on the high level - this is the best example of self-organisation. I love that this huge space dedicated not only to music, but also for bunch of humanistic ideas - antifascism, & supporting political prisoners, sports* and veganism, of course. Thank you for this ^{biggest} opportunity of meeting ^{ed} inspiring [^] being having fun.

P.S. Anna
Of course, I wanted to say much more ~~and~~ than I did and meant much more than I wrote, but hope you understand me.

In every great initiative or event, there is someone criticizing something. This person may be in a bad mood or maybe she just likes to annoy her neighborhood. Perhaps she is pissed off by something very ordinary. Let me be this person.

Entering Fluff fest is like putting your feet into an utopia. Here you can see banners praising antisexism, antifascism, veganism, spitting at the face of capitalism.

We expect this place to be a kind of heaven welcoming and respectful. I mean environmental respect too.

But as the day comes to its end, waste, garbage, are growing among the grass, dirty herbivores biting the green of the festival.

Metallic flowers, plastic rocks and paper plants covering the landscape, smelling beer, beans and French fries. Stinking drinks and food.

This urban vegetation seems to be expanding as the night falls upon the scenes. As if, when the darkness blinds the visitors, it is okay to put cans on the floor, to let your papers fly between the feet of everyone, spreading sauce.

As if it is okay to wait for some volunteers to clean the mess. Maybe you think that visitor's job is to enjoy music and throw away all his garbage, while volunteers are employed to pick up everything after the tents will be gone, escaping the mess into cars and buses.

Fluff fest, you're a really interesting place. You invent new alternatives, you develop them and offer three days to eat vegan food, read healthy fanzines [I mean healthy for the mind], listen to concerts in a joyful catharsis. But please, remember there are not people meant to seed their wastes in the area, while others only deserve to grab them all. Equality also mean everyone has to clean his own crap.

MAGIC SPELLS

FOR A NEW WORLD

Being born into this world it is a lot to take in as a child. Seemingly so innocent yet wiser than the old in their own way. Not yet accepting the wicked ways of this world, not letting its weight pull them down.

But maintaining this wisdom into adulthood, that is one true art! How to not let malice cast shadows on your soul?

Willing to act for a loving place where each and every life matters yet doing it through hate and fear? These are those same leashes that the system holds us by. Step outside of that.

Rather grow into your real power by keeping watch over your thoughts and emotions. The ones you express out loud and the ones that live a peaceful life of their own deep inside of you. What do you think about when you are not thinking?

Trace them to where and how they became a part of you and you will learn what a big part of the system is secretly imprinted in you. So you might just be attending a riot and serving the system you so hate at the same time on another level.

Think your thoughts and feel your emotions as if they were magic spells for the world you so wish to come into existence. They are real and they are what you are made from for the biggest part.

Knowing the ways of this world it can darken your soul with so little effort, make you fearfull, hatefull and with that obedient. But how can you wish to be a positive influence on the world if you let it cloud your thoughts and darken your emotions?

They ARE magic spells and they don't just make you up, they construct the world. They are your biggest power as a being. So fueled by rage cast your spells positively!

ANTIFENIX

Informations in english about the latest police repressions against anarchistic movement in Czech republic.

Solidarity is our true weapon

With appeal to the presumption of innocence we would like to point out that the forces prosecuting and arresting people are in paradoxically non-compliance with laws (with which we do not agree, and it is beyond our control to change it) and we would like to clear Martin, Peter, Ales and I. from a lot of lies that have been written about them. In our eyes, all three remain friends, comrades, or at least people deserving much support, even in the case of loosing and conviction. ★

Convicted and imprisoned for the action they never carried out and which was most likely the result of coordinated undercover police work. ★

OPERATION FENIX, POLICE INFILTRATION AND POSSIBLY FABRICATED CASE

Recently, in April 2015, Police of the Czech Republic commenced an operation against the anarchist, anti-authoritarian and animal liberation movement.

This operation is known and called Operation Fenix (Phoenix). During the initial stage many individuals have been questioned and interrogated, some arrested and several places raided. Police confiscated servers, computers, flash drives, cameras, mobile phones and other digital devices or data carriers. So far we do not know to what extend the operation goes and how many people are being monitored and what the intentions of the police are. On a number of occasions the police fabricated or purposely concealed important facts in order to obtain permission to search different properties and arrest people.

The closest media attention has so far focused on the affair of "far left terrorism." From the original 11 detainees, three individuals remain in custody where they await trial. Peter and Martin are accused of "conspiracy to plan a terrorist attack" and Ales with the offense for illegal arms possession.

Today we know that the entire "action" to attack the train, which the police claimed to prevent by arresting Peter, Martin and two other people (currently investigated without detention), was scheduled and co-planned by (at least) two undercover operatives. Specifically trained undercover police officers infiltrated a group of people and gained their trust to obtain information. After a while, when surveillance of their new "friends" was established, they began to talk more about the necessity of actions more militant in nature and they' Martin's lawyer mentioned in an interview:

"My defendant considers the whole case as the result of police provocation and he had no intention whatsoever to plan or carry out a terrorist attack. As he stated, if he would not have met the undercover police agents he would most likely never have gotten into the current troubles."

It was the police themselves who invented the whole event. Without their initiative, the whole affair would not even exist. The aim of the police was most likely to discredit, intimidate and divide the entire anarchist movement and to collect as much information about the groups, activities and individuals as possible.

On 29.6.2015, the district court of Prague 6

ruled to put our comrade I. in custody.

I. was accused in another case of repression of ultra-left extremism. I. was taken in on Friday and charged on Sunday.

According to the police, I. took part in the 'attack' on the house of the minister of defense of Czech Republic with Molotov cocktails.

There are no photos nor videos of this attack. There was no actual fire, despite 4 bottles having been thrown. No other evidence of the attack has been made public, nobody claimed responsibility for it. I.S DNA DOESN'T MATCH WITH THE DNA TRACK ON THE BOTTLE. Police haven't checked the camera footage from the entrance to I.'s college house (the only possible access, the windows are secured with bars), which would show that I. was home at the time of the attack.

This apparent Molotov attack presents itself like another fabricated plot, especially when you consider that the (alleged) plot to attack a military train was staged by police infiltrators. The mere fact that I. is a Russian citizen plays suspiciously well into the context of political discourse. In response to the perceived threat of Russia, the Ministry of Defense is currently signing contracts agreeing to the presence of US military troops and future plans for US military bases in the Czech Republic. Mandatory draft is also being discussed.

"For me, it is actually a confirmation that present course of the Ministry of Defense, which I lead, is right" commented Stropnický. I. received the worst type of custody, with very strict conditions. No visitors permitted and strictly checked mail, which I. receives several weeks late.

We are with you.

FENIX 4, PRISON CONDITIONS, LONELINESS AND HUNGER

So far, no court hearings have been held, therefore the accused should be regarded as innocent, however the reality is that not only in the media (from whom we can not expect more than a hunger for sensationalism), but mainly in prisons the presumption of innocence is somehow forgotten, and defendants are treated as if they were already sentenced. All three were assigned to various prisons around Czech Republic. Petr at Ruzyně prison, Martin at Pankrác prison and Ales was recently transferred to prison in Brno. Petr at least had the opportunity to meet with other prisoners, even if only for a few small moments. Ales and Martin were in solitary confinement without the slightest possibility of social contact, but recently (mid July) have been moved now they share their cells with other prisoners. Petr, Martin and Ales are allowed a visit once every two weeks for 90 minutes. They are allowed to walk for 90 minutes alone in a restricted area of the prison. I. has no visits allowed and all mail is thoroughly checked by a special police prosecutor and so it takes weeks until I. gets any mail.

Martin was transferred to Pankrác Prison in Prague in early June and the already unbearable conditions have been aggravated. He was separated from the other prisoners and placed in solitary confinement. All of his personal belongings were taken from him and no money has been delivered to him for many weeks. Due to this practice Martin was not able to receive a radio sent to him. The radio has to undergo input check, which is paid out of Martin's money. He only met people through bars and plexi-glass, is always handcuffed and he is only allowed to walk outside for 90 minutes per day in a small concrete corridor.

The situation of Martin's and I.'s diet is outrageous. According to the statutes of Pankrác prison Martin has the right to eat a vegan diet, but in reality he does not even get a vegetarian diet. Ironically Martin was offered an "alternative" Halal diet which includes animal products killed in a specific way with the absence of pork, so obviously nothing. I. is getting so called vegetarian diet in Ruzyně but he says that it contains meat anyway. Either way is not a solution for a vegan diet. Martin and I. are not getting enough food. In addition, they all are only allowed to receive a maximum of 5 kg parcels once in three months only and content is tightly regulated. The fact of the matter is that basic food intake should be provided by the prison rather than by

We call for support of all three defendants, especially Martin and I. at the moment, who are suffering due to prison authorities disrespecting their vegan diet and refusing to accommodate their dietary habits

THE POSSIBILITIES ARE MANY, EVEN SMALL GROUPS CAN ORGANIZE A SUCCESSFUL EVENT

→ Tell people about the case: There's a lot of misinformation being spread about the Fenix. The police and the media have worked hard to establish a narrative in which anarchists set out to destroy anything and attack if not try to kill people and the police quickly snatched up terrorists in the process of planning attack. This story is grounded in the interests of the authorities, not in reality. This narrative must be dispelled before the Fenix 4 come to trial to prevent similar repression in the future.

→ Distribute this and other support material: Plenty of support material is available, including this and other flyers, awesome T-shirts and so on. You can set up a table at your next event, distract at social spaces and community centers like our comrades did in Stockholm, Edinburgh and Dresden. Or pass them on to friends and neighbors. Support material can be found at antifendx.noblogs.org or by reaching antifenix@riseup.net.

→ Abroad, you can apply political pressure on the Czech embassy as our friends in Edinburgh, have.

Support can also be expressed through creative actions or good old benefit concerts, skate sessions, graffiti, banners, squatting, composing songs. All power to the imagination. Creativity has no limits, same as our will to help. However, think about what sort of events/actions to choose so you are not making the situation worse.

Convinced in another 'witch' hunt, where the same fate could befall to any of us. Convicted for expressing disagreement with domination and inequality.

The functioning and necessity of a prison does not have our support and legitimacy regardless of whether the "Fenix four" are found guilty or not.

For Ales, Martin, Petr and I. support from the outside is the most important thing at this moment. While in prison, time passes differently, and while we are enjoying the summer, the four of them are sitting in complete isolation, without vegetation, birds singing, swimming

In the river, bicycle trips, sitting by the fire with friends, kind words, hugs, love, possibilities of free motion, seeing the sun, or even almost without food.

Solidarity is for us, as anti-authoritarian-minded individuals, the basic idea and also one of the most powerful initiators, because it is impossible to destroy it with just physical strength.

Martin's sister: "If they know we're here for them, determined to do whatever it takes to support and encourage, they will be stronger and become harder to break. They must know that we are here for them..." Call to share!
